

Chicago, IL – February, 2008

Prospect City announced it has added Green Collar Executives into its portfolio of clients. The firm is tasked with numerous support, infrastructure and technology responsibilities for the Massachusetts-based executive search firm focused on the green service sector.

Prospect City is providing a whole host of infrastructure services including a role as COO in advising the firm on its strategy. In addition, Prospect City is designing market materials, providing technology infrastructure, search execution support and administrative support.

“We’re pleased our reputation is growing within the corporate sector, catching the attention of senior level executives and companies as they turn their focus on green issues. We believe this sector is of great importance to our communities and will be a growing function within companies of all sizes, and with this focus our client is ahead in the game” said Prospect City’s President, Robert Stein. “With the inherent risks associated with a new business venture, we’re pleased our clients sees us as an integral part of their success and a means to lower risk.

Prospect City is an infrastructure services provider to executive recruiting firms and corporate recruiting functions within large organizations. The company provides technology (database, VoIP phone systems, IM, websites and email) along with research, administration and accounting services to executive search firms.
