

Chicago, IL – March, 2008

Prospect City announced it has been asked to assess internal processes and systems ahead of its plan to build a proprietary database technology based on its popular Velvet Search Management System for HNCL Search. HNCL SEARCH (Hodge / Niederer / Cariani / Lindsay) is a leading search firm specializing in senior executive and board level searches across all industries. The firm currently employs over 20 executive recruiters in several offices, including San Francisco and Atlanta.

Prospect City is providing an assessment and analysis of the firm's internal processes in operations and search execution in order to identify areas of improvement. "As a search industry veteran of 25 years, I can say without hesitation that this is one of the finest group of professionals to serve. Their service is impeccable today, and to invest in efforts to improve even more demonstrates their desire to be the best choice for prospective clients." The project is expected to evolve to include a custom database designed exclusively for the firm to meet the needs of their best-practice processes. It is expected the project will be completed within 75 days.

"We are pleased this organization has selected Prospect City to build and support its central database. While the firm had many discussions with leading software providers such as Cluen, Dillistone, Bullhorn and more, we were confident our system's advantages would stand out. The combination of our unique, focused industry expertise coupled with our technology's adaptive customization means the technology will remain in-step with their growth, resulting in a sound, long-term investment – rare in the software industry." added Stein.

Prospect City is an infrastructure services provider to executive recruiting firms and corporate recruiting functions within large organizations. The company provides technology (database, VoIP phone systems, IM, websites and email) along with research, administration and accounting services to executive search firms.
